TURNING OVER a NEW Leaf

97

For four years we have grown together
United by a common bond,
Branching out from the same tree.
Some of our colors are more vibrant than others,
Some of us hesitate to turn over a new leaf
But one aspect holds true -
We have never forgotten our roots.

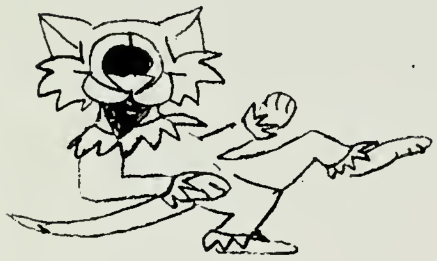
Remembering Neela

A Celebration of Life



Always the Peace Sign

Sweet Dreams

can remember us sitting
at the creaking kitchen table,
wet and warm
from the summer storm

rain quenched clothes
stick to sun tanned silken skin (lazy lasting summerness)
as she was speaking

gazed out the window
at the sleepy day
drawing star speckled spread over dreaming sky

the sun peeping out
beneath the blanket
sees the moon rising to her place
among the stars

tucks herself in breathing a sigh
closing her eyes
and whispers good night.

After making her first billion Chrissy Renaud has retired to her own personal island in the Caribbean with male natives. Also living in the islands is Chris Meyer who is now a renowned celebrity in the field of genetics. He has gone partially insane due to his years at the Children's Place.

Still busy causing trouble at KP are Jon Montgomery and Ethan Dunbar who were caught punching holes in the ceiling by Mr. Fitzsimmons, while Ben Roy was giving flying sunami kicks to the walls. On the other side of the country lives their friend Mike Hovey who is living with all his women in Utah. Brian Coulter owns a pub down the street where happy hour is 24-7. Meanwhile, Jessica Masci owns her own line of clothing made completely of hemp. Beth McMorrow has developed a green thumb, while Jen Mitchell became a scientist. The two manufacture the materials for Jessica's clothing line. Friend Erin Cronin lives in Amsterdam with husband Steve and Sam the dog, where they party with friends Colleen McGrath, Missy Webber, and Cody Hallet.

There are about fifty King Philip graduates who we still have not heard from or seen. We are sure they are using their KP education wisely and living life to the fullest wherever they happen to be.

Class of '98

The Class of '98 has accomplished a lot over the past three years of high school. We have planned semis, dances, floats, and many fund raisers. Some of these fund raisers have included lollipop sales, a yard sale, and a K.P. calendar.

In the year to come, we hope to accomplish many things. The most important of these is to make our senior year pleasurable. we hope to make many memories for the Class of '98.

We are a very successful class and we hope to continue our success in the year to come. We've accomplished a lot and yet we still have many more goals to set.

Well what can I say! We are the Freshman Class. During the year we all hope for the best and to have a fun year, but we also want to accomplish many projects. We hope to raise money for our class through fundraisers like candy sales, yard sales, car washes, and much more. In addition we intend to help out in the community, show support for our school, and make the best out of the year. Have a great four years, and let it be known that we are the class of 2000!

We all received the news within weeks of each other. We were going to Mt. Holyoke College for one week, to a place called Girls' State. What was it? Would we hate it? Why did we have to bring white gloves? But no one really cared. We were missing finals! So we left, and after a long ride we arrived at Girls' State. Soon after, we were divided up and left in our dorms-our new "towns"- to survive among strangers. Amazingly, we did more than survive. We bonded. We cried at strangers' stories, we told our deepest secrets, and we sang our Girls' State song. We were senators, state representatives, Spartan Cheerleaders, the Lion King, and most of all best friends. When we left after a week of both laughter and tears, we traveled home to our separate towns, homes, and families, and yet we are all still connected. After all, we came from Girls' State, "the best state in the land!"

Each year, juniors and seniors are selected for membership based on the qualities of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Once members, they are required to maintain these high standards and to participate in numerous activities. The National Honor Society is a service organization. Some of the projects NHS does to serve the school and community are: recycling, helping out in the Media Center, providing activities for senior citizens, giving honor roll students engraved pencils, collecting food for the needy, raising money for the Pine Street Inn through their annual homeless reality, and producing a Halloween safety program for area first-graders. The NHS is a dedicated, busy group of students.

DECA is the association of marketing students. It is the only organization of its kind operating through the nation's schools to attract individuals to careers in marketing, distribution, merchandising and management. DECA serves as a natural outlet for the expression of individual talent and contributes substantially to the school's primary purpose of producing well-adjusted, career-oriented members of the community. DECA students compete in two types of competition, competency and manual. The scores are averages, and the highest scores win.

Adam Kinnear, Jen Holske, and Sarah Gentry rying to memorize their music before rehearsal begins.

From the beginning of rehearsals in the spring, to rehearsals over the summer, and then band camp, and finally rehearsals in the fall, all the hard work has paid off. Nothing is perfect, but the King Philip Marching Band strives to reach perfection every year. We dedicate a big part of our lives to becoming the best. Our best does not mean that we strive to become State, New England, and U.S. Champions. It simply means we strive to better ourselves as musicians and marchers; but if the best we strive for brings us to the top as State, New England, and U.S. Champions, it is a huge bonus.

We, the King Philip Marching Band, never stop going. We are like the Energizer Bunny who keeps going, and going, and going...We practice day and night, almost every day in the fall, but it is what we want. From a spectator's point of view, the band is just wonderful, but from the band's perspective, we just need to get better and better and better.....so we keep going.

Driving for perfection sometimes gets tiring. When someone wants to stop, a friend is there to keep his spirits up. If someone gets out of line, there is always an instructor to steer the person toward the right path again. With a great amount of team work and the guidance of our superiors, the band went through the best experience of our lives. Many of us experienced this cataclysmic experience many times, and for that we will come out with many memories and friends for life. From band camp to Giants' Stadium, from tears to fights, we all get along as friends and teammates.

The staff we have is one of the best around. They set our standards at such a high level, when we hear of their plans we want to faint (or quit!). But no matter what their expectations are, they have nothing but complete confidence in us. Their confidence in knowing we can succeed is one of the most important things we, as a band, have to know to keep on driving. They always back us up no matter how bad our performance is. However, in the following rehearsal we must be prepared to work fast, hard, and efficiently.

Off the field and out of rehearsal, everyone is just a kid, no matter what age. On the field and in rehearsal, we are kids with dreams—dreams that are in our hearts and our minds. We are more than just a kid with a horn, flag or drum; we are dedicated kids with dreams of succeeding. That is what really makes us champions. -

Elizabeth Shearer

Drama Club

The Drama Club performs twice a year. Their first show, usually in January, consists of short plays so that as many students as possible can have a chance to try their hand at acting. One night the show is performed on the auditorium stage; however, their second night performance is done in the cafeteria, caberet style. Cast members, when not performing, serve food and beverages to the audience. In the spring they put on their larger scale production which usually involves building a set and organizing more elaborate props and costumes. A new activity the Drama Club has undertaken this year is to send a bus load of their members to the New England Theatre Conference in November to attend a day's worth of workshops on acting and the technical aspects of theatre.

Firmly Rooted

Some days you see us recalling stories of olde, kings and their wars, wisemen and their thoughts.

Other days we lend a friendly ear, asking if we can help even before the tears come.

At times we look silly in pajamas and hats, as we try to keep up the facade of learning.

But beneath it all we come together to enrich the lives of our students.

Decisions, Decisions: You mean I have to sign all of these papers? "I'm so confused." How about you just be all you can be. And always remember the good times like math, how many times does 10 go into 100? The sports you played in the snow as we looked on in a nice warm car. The band practices and competitions in the rain, cold and snow. But look at the accomplishments you've had in the past years, the "champs!" Now you can see life as it can be. With all of your hard work you can always be a champ. Whatever your decision, college or Marine Corp Band, we will always be 100% behind you. Best of luck. We love you always.

We worked very hard to make this index as accurate as we could. Even so, we know that there are many problems with it. Please don't conclude that if the page isn't noted here, that you don't have your name in other parts of the book. We apologize and promise to do a better job next year.

The Teacher Gets the Last Word (Finally)

I wanted to remind our readers of this year's theme as we reach the end of the 1997 Chieftain. We promised that we would be turning over a new leaf. I hope you noticed the increased size of the book. We increased it even more than necessary with such a large class. I also hope you noticed the special attention to details. We took special pains to spell every name correctly and to identify every person in every picture. We added an index (which turned out to be a very difficult task.) But more importantly, we made some changes that are not obvious. For the first time the yearbook was done by a class of students, instead of after school volunteers. We owe Dr. Ferris a huge thank you for this important change and for agreeing to all the "crazy" requests I made of him. Also, we produced the book on Macintosh computers, doing every bit of layout ourselves. Thanks to Mr. Runeman's help we were able to get through all the electronic disasters without too many tears. So as we come to the end of this huge project, I would like to thank others who made this project possible. I thank all the students who volunteered their personal pictures so generously. I thank the teachers who offered encouragement and help. I thank the parents who sent notes offering to help with the baby ads. I thank Larry Maraghy who accompanied students to yearbook camp last summer and offered good advice. I especially want to thank Arnie Lohmann, our Josten's Rep. who took special pains to help us to meet those dreadful deadlines. Finally, I sincerely want to thank my students who labored tirelessly to get this yearbook to you. Some came after school to work, some during vacations. Some had to do pages over two and three times because their files failed. We didn't always see eye to eye, but in the end, their sense of dedication and the promise of a Tootsie Roll Pop were enough to get us to this page.

The King Philip Music program had a very successful year. The Winter Guard tried a different approach to their show this year. Gone was the classical music and flowing outfits. This year the guard wore black vinyl pants and baby blue vinyl jackets and performed to the song "Desire" by U2. The Guard ended up 4th in the New England Band Association. They did travel to Pennsylvania for a regional competition and placed first in their class. The concert band, because of time constraints, were unable to compete this year. However, their music was heard by the 500 people who attended the Pops concert held at King Philip in May. They also played on the Wrentham Common on June 1st as well as the Norfolk Common on June 3rd. The chorus, consisting of 18 members, also performed at many functions this year. Their beautiful rendition of "America the Beautiful" was sung at this year's graduation. Not shown, the Jazz Ensemble had a very successful year. They were awarded a gold medal at the State finals, and were asked to play at the Hatch Shell in Boston on May 24th. Their jazzy tunes were also heard at the Pops Concert.

Awards Night

On Wednesday, June 4, 1997 King Philip Regional High school had their annual Awards Night. Awards Night consisted of local scholarships, excellence in cource studies and honor roll. To be invited to attend one must have received a scholarship, excellence award or have made the honor roll for three consecutive terms. This years Awards Night was a huge success and over $35,000 was given to the scholars.

The 1997 Valedictorian was Priya Patel and the Salutatorian was Kristi Martin. Priya also received the King Philip Cup during the graduation ceremony. Each year an outstanding student is recognized and is given the Cup by the principal. The class of 1997 was also celebrating the high school's 40th year. During the graduation exercises the president of the first class to graduate from King Philip reflected on his life goals and achievements.

Senior All Night Party

This year's theme for the 1997 Senior All Night Party was Country Western. The Senior All Night Party started at 10 P.M. and ended at 5A.M. The Parents' Network established this activity seven years ago and ever since the party has been a tremendous amount of fun. Some of the activities included: Sumo Wrestling, Velcro Wall, Bouncing Gym, a DJ, Boxing, a live band, a running Bungee Cord, Characatures, and a hypnotist that everyone enjoyed.

Right: WHIP LASH! Brian Hanssen and Dave Morris both were on the running Bungee Cord and had a great run before being whipped back.

Above: DO I LOOK GREAT OR WHAT? Kevin Galvin modeling the sumo outfit had his picture taken before his opponent knocked him to the ground. The sumo wrestlers had two full mats to work their enormous bodies around and try to pin their opponent. It looks easy, but it wasn't. It was very difficult to maneuver and incredibly hot it inside the outfit.

Above Right: YEE HA! Mike Major watches on while his classmates were shooting some hoops. He got into the festive mood, sporting the cowboy hat.

Right: DON'T MESS WITH THESE COWGIRLS. Lottie Colburn, Stacia Jaronski, and Kirsti Webel shot a look that said it all. The Senior All Night Party brought the entire class together and it was a night full of memories that will beremembered fondly in years to come.

Left: 2 A.M. PICTURE. Wendy Stokes and Courtney Shook had their pictures taken in what used to be the senior hall way but was transformed into a Country Western wall of art.
